Leading the Profession Towards New Horizons

Shenandoah University's CCM Vocal Pedagogy Institute was created to meet the demand for training grounded in voice science, voice medicine and tested methods of CCM pedagogy. We continue to be the first and only institution to include courses in contemporary commercial music (CCM) vocal pedagogy for academic credit in a graduate degree program. The best and the brightest voice professionals from all vocal disciplines worldwide, have been drawn to the CCM Vocal Pedagogy Institute for the past seven summers and have high praise for its worthiness. Participants have included:

- singing teachers
- professional singers
- jazz educators
- choral conductors (secular & sacred)
- speech coaches
- speech pathologists

Those attending learn to apply the principles of voice science and voice medicine to their teaching. This invaluable training sharply increases their ability to assist students in meeting the complex demands of the 21st century music marketplace.

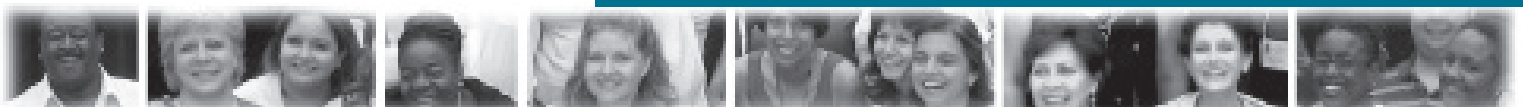

The certified institute faculty and instructors encourage participants to explore new approaches and ideas and to grow in a relaxed non-competitive setting.

Under LoVetri's guidance, everyone is encouraged to interact and share with others. Many people have commented on how much this environment has enhanced their learning experience.

“Not only were my expectations exceeded, I found myself sharing the experience with some of the most consummate and supportive professionals I have had the pleasure to meet. What a testament to Jeanie's method!”

– Lee Welch
Curriculum Leader for Music and Theatre
James City County Public Schools
Williamsburg, VA

* Musical Theatre, Jazz, Cabaret, Pop, Rock, Country, Folk, Gospel, Rhythm & Blues and Rap

Three Levels of Certification

Somatic Voicework™ – The LoVetri Method

This body-based system of training for all styles of CCM incorporates techniques derived from the disciplines of speech pathology, acting, movement and yoga. It draws upon ideas taken from body awareness disciplines such as the Alexander Technique®, Feldenkrais® and traditional approaches from classical training. LoVetri's decades-long work with voice science, research and medicine is a core element of Somatic Voicework™ – The LoVetri Method. It promotes self-knowledge, musical intuition and the artistic uniqueness of each person and voice. Instructional materials are flexible and can be adapted to fit each professional's individual approach.

What you'll learn

Participants must attend all hours to receive certification for each level.

LEVEL I

July 16-18

Basic Application

- Learn an organized pedagogical approach based upon vocal function and the principles of voice science and medicine.
- Educate the eyes and ears about the healthy use of the voice in any CCM style.
- Enhance perception and increase awareness of sound and feeling.
- Augment existing skills by sharpening aural discrimination and increasing the accuracy of the diagnosis of vocal health and production issues.
- Sing in the three main registers and two basic vowel sound qualities to facilitate accurate demonstration of CCM production.
- Examine "belting" and the term "mix" and clarify other jargon.

LEVEL II

July 19-21

Advanced Application

- Determine how vocal exercises work and how to apply them.
- Master The Solution Sequence® under the guidance of the Institute faculty.
- Organize style and health into a cohesive whole.
- Handle today's demanding music with expertise.
- Address age, including children as young as 5 and adults beyond 65.
- Examine style demands and time frame (open-ended versus pending performance).
- Facilitate serving any student's needs in an appropriate and timely manner.

LEVEL III

July 22-24

Repertoire, Problem Solving and Voice Medicine

featuring Guest Experts Korovin and Marks

- Improve techniques to work with professionals or professional-level amateurs to solve the problems working singers encounter in the marketplace.
- Learn fast and easy pitch-matching techniques, useful for actors, dancers and other novice singers.
- Examine remedies for voices that sound healthy, but still exhibit functional problems.
- Observe Broadway coach Robert Marks discuss audition song selections and arrangements, and work with selected singers on performance.
- Explore medical terminology, common causes of vocal pathology, typical surgeries for singers and the effects of medication with Dr. Gwen Korovin.
- Learn simple ways to deepen acting skills quickly.

As a courtesy to the community, doctors and SLPs may attend Dr. Korovin's lecture at no cost.

"Every time I go to any Somatic Voicework™-The LoVetri Method training, I always leave feeling like an entirely new teacher. It is an amazing experience that I can take directly to my studio and use right away. I can't wait until next year!"

– Loretta Madieros
Director of Music, In Sync Center of the Arts
Quincy, MA

"It is so refreshing to have a voice training method that is making the most out of our natural vocal ability, and to be given the opportunity and the honour to learn how to teach it."

– Jacqui Alexander
Vocal Tutor & Teacher, Sydney High School System
Sydney, Australia

“The atmosphere that has been created here and generosity of sharing on every level from Jeanie to support faculty to colleagues is truly extraordinary. I am blessed to be here.”

– Shelly Fullerton
Private Studio Teacher
Alberta Canada

“This clear, common sense method of training the voice has allowed me to become re-aquainted with the true voice I’ve been given and has reawakened my complete self to the joy of singing!”

– Camille DeVore
Vocalist, Arranger, Songwriter, Vocal Coach
Sioux Falls, SD

Post Certification Courses*

*These courses are offered concurrently with Levels I, II and III of the institute.

July 16-18

Pop/Rock Singing Styles: Broadway and Beyond taught by Carla Bianco

This course will provide an overview of pop/rock music history, which will include styles in pop/contemporary, rock and roll, R&B/soul, folk and many more. Participants will become familiar with the varying vocal styles associated with the pop/rock genre and examine some of the main players who created and contributed to the style throughout history.

Terminology and techniques used in Somatic VoiceworkSM – The LoVetri Method will be incorporated on many different levels when discussing pop/rock singing styles. This course will also explore the difference between performing pop/rock styles for the theatrical stage or audition versus the club venue or recording studio. How to choose appropriate song material for each medium and how to meet the vocal and dramatic expectations associated with each will also be discussed. Each participant will have the opportunity to work on a song individually or as a group to serve as a learning tool for discovering the components that make up the pop/rock sound.

Speaking and Singing with the Same Voice taught by Dr. Joan Melton

This course brings together the contrasting worlds of singing and acting training in a movement-based approach that is physically energizing, vocally freeing, and infinitely practical—onstage and off! As it is physiologically based, it makes a direct connection to Somatic VoiceworkSM – The LoVetri Method. The course is divided into three sessions, and will include:

Session I Foundational aspects of technique: Alignment, Breathing, Range, Resonance, Articulation, and Connection, or the Acting dimension, as outlined in One Voice (Heinemann 2003)

Session II Cutting-edge information and experiential work connecting the technical trainings of actors, singers and dancers

Session III Techniques for extended voice use, phrasing for speaking and singing, and opportunities for individual performance and coaching

(Participants should wear clothing that allows them to move easily.)

July 22-24

Evaluation and Treatment of the Injured Singing Voice: Tools for every Singing Teacher taught by Dr. Wendy LeBorgne

This course will provide participants with a means to prevent, identify and remediate potential vocal injury in singers. Each participant will be able to complete a systematic voice evaluation and create an appropriate plan for referral and/or remediation. Additionally, participants will be able to identify appropriate strategies for remediation of vocal injuries. This will be a workshop-style course with multimedia including video examples, audio examples and live performance/assessment.

“Finally a sensible, healthy, simple, function based approach to the myriad world of CCM Sounds!”

– Jennifer Spencer
Theatre Faculty
MacEwan University
Alberta, Canada

“She has melded art and science in a way that is truly ground breaking. My experience with Jeannette and the entire faculty of the CCM Institute has been life-changing professionally, personally and educationally. I will be back as soon as I can for post-graduate learning opportunities!”

– Kelly Himes
Singing Voice Specialist
Fort Worth, Texas

July 25

Jeannette LoVetri Seminar

This will be a day of working with LoVetri in an intimate setting on issues of CCM vocal production. Topics will be determined by those in attendance. This course generally fills up very fast, so early registration is advised. Enrollment is limited.

About CCM Institute Faculty

Jeannette LoVetri,
artist-in-residence,
creator of Somatic Voicework™ – The Lovetri Method

was chosen in 2008 by Dr. Robert T. Sataloff to be an instructor
at Drexel University

College of Medicine in the Department of Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery.
This prestigious recognition distinguishes LoVetri as one of the few singing teacher in the world on a college medical faculty.

She is on faculty at Aaron Copland School of Music at Queens College in New York City, is guest lecturer at Teachers College Columbia University, and formerly taught for 10 years at Tisch School for the Arts and the Steinhardt School both at New York University. Her students have leading roles on Broadway, perform at Carnegie Hall and at Lincoln Center, and have appeared at well known venues in New York including The Jazz Standard and the Blue Note. She has authored many voice science research publications and pedagogy articles, including a chapter in the recent book, "The Singer's Voice" by Drs. T. Murry and M. Benniger. She is on the Scientific Advisory Board of The Voice Foundation and is also a consultant to several noted

New York City hospitals, retraining injured voices. She has been the Singing Specialist with the Grammy®-award winning Brooklyn Youth Chorus since its inception in 1991 and has been teaching singing since 1971.

Dr. Kathryn Green,

has been director of the CCM Vocal Pedagogy institute for the past six years.

Under her guidance, the Institute has graduated more than 150
Level III participants, and seen the initiation of three satellite courses. Kathryn has been instrumental in developing the Vocal Pedagogy program at Shenandoah University which now has a Master of Music in Pedagogy-CCM Voice and a DMA in Vocal Pedagogy. She received her DMA in performance at Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. She has been a guest clinician at Universität der Kunst Berlin and at Hochschule der Kunst Lübeck in Germany. She has been teaching

Somatic Voicework™ – The Lovetri Method for eight years. Her roles include Mother in the German premier of Maury Yeston's "Nine," performed in Berlin's leading musical theatre venue,

Theatre des Westens.; Juditha (Handel's Juditha Triumphant); Carmen (Carmen); the Witch (Hansel and Gretel); Anna (Weill's Seven Deadly Sins); Her comedic act of the 'misplaced opera Diva' was featured in the Cirque de Soleil production Pomp, Duck and Circumstance which toured internationally. As a contralto, she has appeared with the Erie and Buffalo Philharmonics, however when she sings crossover, her favorite style is bluegrass.

"Jeannie's Method is spot on for the needs and desires of the Broadway performer and/or students who wish to be one."

Special Guests

Level III

Dr. Gwen Korovin, otolaryngologist, maintains a busy private practice in New York City, where she treats some of the world's most well-known performers. She is clinical assistant professor of otolaryngology at New York University School of Medicine; adjunct faculty in the master of fine arts program at the New School of Social Research; and a consultant at the Ames Vocal Dynamics Laboratory of Lenox Hill Hospital, all in New York City. She serves on the board of directors and scientific advisory board of the Voice Foundation and is on the editorial board of the Journal of Voice in Philadelphia. Dr. Korovin has appeared on television as an expert on vocal health and is an author of numerous articles and research papers on the voice and voice medicine. She is in frequent demand as a speaker and presenter at conferences and symposia worldwide. She has served as chair of the New York County Medical Society's Committee of Continuing Medical Education and Credentialing and was chair of the Women's Medical Association of New York Speaker's Bureau. Most recently she co-edited the definitive reference textbook "Diagnosis and Treatment of Voice Disorders," which serves professionals in the fields of voice science and vocal pedagogy.

Post-Certification

Carla Bianco is most known for her portrayal of Maureen in the Tony award-winning musical "Rent" on Broadway and in the original West Coast Premiere at the Ahmanson Theater in Los Angeles. She also performed on Broadway in the "Rent" 10th anniversary benefit performance. Carla is proud to have originated the role of Wendla in the first workshop of the hit musical 'Spring Awakening'. And recently, Carla played the leading role in George Romero's new TV show, "Deadtime Stories", and also recently played a role in Denzel Washington's new film, "Unstoppable". Other credits include Off-Broadway and regional productions of "Bright Lights, Big City" (New York Theater Workshop/Off-Bway), "Tic, Tic, Boom" (Off-Bway), "The Third Army" (Long Wharf Theatre), "Do I Hear a Waltz" (Georgestreet Playhouse), "Anything Goes", "Summertree" (Pittsburgh Playhouse).

Level III

Robert Marks, vocal coach, conductor, arranger, accompanist, lecturer and director, holds a degree in speech pathology, and has taught at the American Musical and Dramatic Academy, the Professional Development Program for the New York Singing Teachers' Association, and at Nashville's Belmont University as a special guest artist for their summer program. He's also conducted workshops across the U.S., and in England and France. For more than 30 years, he has maintained a busy private studio in New York City working with performers of all ages. His clientele ranges from beginners to Broadway cast members, as well as singers of cabaret and pop music. He is an expert in helping performers present themselves to their best advantage in auditions and onstage. Marks is regarded by many as "the best of the best." He is known for having an encyclopedic knowledge of theatrical songs, and is legendary in his ability to draw out each performer's unique talents.

Post-Certification

Dr. Wendy LeBorgne, voice pathologist and singing voice specialist, is the clinical director of the Blaine Block Institute for Voice Analysis and Rehabilitation (Dayton, OH) and the Professional Voice Center of Greater Cincinnati. She is adjunct faculty at Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music. Dr. LeBorgne holds a bachelor of fine arts in musical theatre from Shenandoah University and master's and doctoral degrees from the University of Cincinnati in communication sciences and disorders with a specialty in voice disorders. Her research has focused primarily on the area of the Broadway "belt" voice. Original peer-reviewed research has been published in the Journal of Voice and she is a contributing author to the book Voice Therapy: Clinical Studies providing a case study on "Vocal Intervention with the Touring Broadway Actor". She has authored a training DVD entitled Laryngeal Videostroboscopic Images: Normal and Pathologic Samples, distributed by Plural Publishing. Dr. LeBorgne has been a guest faculty member of CCM Institute: Somatic Voicework™ – The Lovetri Method since 2006. In addition to her duties as a voice pathologist, Dr. LeBorgne continues to maintain an active professional performing career.

Post-Certification

About the Master of Music in Vocal Pedagogy

We are thrilled to offer the Master of Music in Vocal Pedagogy-CCM Voice this coming fall 2011. This new degree program, perhaps the first of its kind in the nation, allows the student to concentrate upon CCM technique and repertoire for study and the final culminating performance. The CCM Institute courses in Somatic Voicework™ – The LoVetri Method serve as the core of the training. Students will also be exposed to a broad range of vocal methods and techniques in Comparative Vocal Teaching Methods (MUPP 600) and the physiology and anatomy of the instrument in The Anatomy and Function of the Singing Voice (MUPP 533).

A cornerstone course in this curriculum, anatomy and function of the singing voice, was pioneered by Dr. Janette Ogg as an interdisciplinary course involving colleagues from physical therapy, respiratory therapy, anatomy and physiology, vocal acoustics and otolaryngology. The Voice Foundation and National Association of Teachers of Singing recognized Dr. Ogg for developing this pioneering interdisciplinary course by presenting her with the coveted Van Lawrence award.

About the Doctor of Musical Arts in Vocal Pedagogy

The doctor of musical arts in pedagogy with a vocal concentration prepares students for professional careers in higher education as researchers and teachers. Students gain advanced knowledge through an interdisciplinary approach in areas of anatomy, physiology, kinesiology, pathology, technology, psychology and applied voice. Classical and CCM vocal techniques are incorporated in the curriculum. The curriculum is set up to accommodate those who are teaching by offering courses during the summer, online and with intensive weekend sessions during the fall and spring semester.
