The creative power of the universe is expressed as vibration.....as sound. The primary sound of life is the human voice. Most people know little of the vast expressive power of their own vocal instrument.

The voice is as unique as a fingerprint and carries within it emotional, psychological and physical energy that is both potent and powerful. Words and sounds expressed with clear intention have a significant impact upon us and our lives.

This workshop will explore vocal sound in all its manifestations. We will work in small and large groups with breathing, speaking, chanting, singing, and with gentle movement and journaling, to explore all the parameters of your voice. No one will be asked to perform or sing alone unless they wish to do so in order that a safe atmosphere for deep exploration be created. The work is open to all --beginners as well as those with training in speech and song -- and also to those who do healing work in any form.

Jeannette LoVetri is channel, healer, and master teacher. She has taught sound healing using the voice for over 25 years. She has given classes and workshops at the NY Open Center, De Kosmos in Amsterdam and at other centers in the USA. She is a world-recognized singing teacher with 38 years of experience, living in New York City, who has a three-octave range, and still sings everything from Mozart to Motown.
